LB 56, 283, 837

of Aeronautics and they indicated to me, believe it or not, that the present term of office for those serving on airport zoning boards is nonexistent. There is no term of office spelled out in the legislation presently for those board members. The zoning boards are created to see that buildings are not built too high or too close to airport runways, and these board members had no term of office. So we spell out in the legislation a term of four years. They are staggered terms as Senator Newell has told you. They serve four years and the first ones start off with a two-year and then they get on four-year terms. It does one other thing and it just simply actually gets rid of some obsolete language in the present statute which indicates that the Federal Aviation Agency shall approve locations of new airports or airport sites, and that agency has not been doing this for years and years. So we have simply cleared that up and cleaned it up and got rid of the obsolete language, and the bill is in I think final form and ready for your approval. I would move that we move it on.

SENATOR KAHLE: Senator Higgins, did you wish the floor?

SENATOR HIGGINS: Yes, Mr. Chairman, if the Clerk has nothing else to read into the record, no other messages, I would move that we adjourn until nine o'clock tomorrow morning.
